The trailer itself looks quite hilarious. It seems that the film has been inspired by a Karnataka legend of Nale Ba meaning "come tomorrow" in Kannada that originated in 1990's.

According to the myth that existed in Bangalore, witch roams on the street and knock on the door in the voices of their kin. People opening the door die. To send her back, people used to write 'Nale Ba.'

This horror-comedy film is expected to hit the screen on August 31.
